Stay Active Away from Home

Session Focus

Staying active away from home can help you prevent or delay type 2 diabetes.

This session we will talk about:

 Some challenges of staying active away from home, and ways to cope with them

Tips:

- ✓ If you're a passenger, do leg lifts while you ride.
- Be active in ways that don't need fitness equipment (walk, march in place, dance, do wall push-ups, climb stairs, or use a fitness app).
- See sights while you are active (walk, bike, hike, ski, swim, or paddle).

Sherry's Story

Sherry is at risk for type 2 diabetes. So she takes a walk with her neighbor each morning. She also rides a stationary bike after dinner. She's been meeting her goal of being active for at least 150 minutes each week, at a moderate pace or more.

Sherry and her husband are planning to visit some old friends over Memorial Day weekend. It takes six hours just to drive to her friends' house, which means a lot of sitting. And once she gets there, Sherry won't be able to walk with her neighbor or ride her stationary bike. She's worried that she won't reach her fitness goal that week.

Sherry finds ways to stay active during the drive. She and her husband make time for a 2-minute fitness break every 30 minutes. They stretch and walk around at each stop.

Sherry tells her friends that she is being active to prevent type 2 diabetes. She invites them to join her.

Sherry and her friend Ann take a walk each day. It's a great way to get to know the area.

Ann suggests going out in a canoe. Sherry has never canoed before, but she gives it a try. And she loves it!

Sherry has no trouble reaching her fitness goal that week. She's glad to know she can stay active away from home.

How to Cope With Challenges

It can be challenging to stay active away from home. Here are some common challenges and ways to cope with them. Write your own ideas in the column that says "Other Ways to Cope." Check off each idea you try.

Challenge	Ways to Cope	Other Ways to Cope
I'm too busy seeing sights.	☐ See sights while you are active (walk, bike, hike, ski, swim, or paddle).
I'm visiting friends or family.	 □ Tell them that you are being active to prevent type 2 diabetes. □ Look for activities that they can do with you. Invite them to join you.
I have to travel a long way, which means a lot of sitting.	 ☐ If you're a passenger, do leg lifts while you ride. ☐ Take a train. You'll be able to walk around a little. ☐ If you travel by car, make time for a 2-minute fitness break every 30 minutes.

How to Cope With Challenges

I don't know my way around, so I don't know where to walk.	 ☐ Use walking as a chance to get to know the area. ☐ Buy a map and explore. ☐ Ask local people where to walk. ☐ Find maps and route ideas on your computer. ☐ Get a mapping app for your smart phone. ☐ Walk inside a local mall.
I can't use my fitness center or home equipment.	 □ Find out if there's a local fitness center that you can use. □ Stay at a hotel that has a fitness center or pool. □ Pack a resistance band. □ Rent a bike. □ Be active in ways that don't need fitness equipment (walk, march in place, dance, do wall push-ups, climb stairs, or use a fitness app).
I don't have my workout buddy.	 □ Ask someone else to be active with you. □ Be active by yourself. □ Join an online fitness group. □ Contact your workout buddy for support.

Get Enough Sleep

Session Focus

Getting enough sleep can help you prevent or delay type 2 diabetes.

This session we will talk about:

- Why sleep matters
- Some challenges of getting enough sleep and ways to cope with them

You will also make a new action plan!

Tips:

- Go to bed and get up at the same time each day. This helps your body get on a schedule.
- Follow a bedtime routine that helps you wind down.

Jenny's Story

Jenny is at risk for type 2 diabetes. Her doctor asks her if she gets at least 7 hours of sleep each night.

Jenny laughs. "Are you serious?" she asks. "I'm lucky if I get 5 hours."

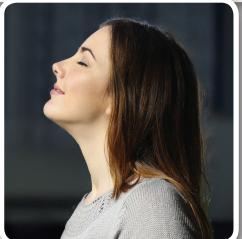

Jenny usually doesn't have much trouble falling asleep. But she often has to use the bathroom in the early morning. This gets her thinking about all the things she needs to do the next day. Plus, her husband's breathing is loud. Both of these things make it hard for Jenny to fall back to sleep. She often lies awake for hours.

These days, Jenny drinks less water and avoids caffeine in the evening. She makes a list of things to do the next day. Then she sets it aside.

Jenny rarely needs to get up to use the bathroom during the night. If she does, she breathes deeply to help her get back to sleep. She also runs a fan to cover up the sound of her husband's breathing.

Jenny is closer to getting 7 hours of sleep a night.

How to Cope with Challenges

It can be challenging to get enough sleep. Here are some common challenges and ways to cope with them. Write your own ideas in the column that says "Other Ways to Cope." Check off each idea you try.

Challenge	Ways to Cope	Other Ways to Cope
I stay up too late getting things done.	 □ Plan ahead so that you finish earlier. □ Ask family and friends to help you get things done. □ Save some tasks for another day. □ Make a list of things to do the next day. Then set it aside.
I'm too hot or too cold.	 □ Turn the heat up or down. Or open a window. □ Dress for the weather. □ Choose the right bedding. □ Take a warm or cool bath or shower.
My bed partner is restless, breathes loudly, or snores.	 Ask your partner to blow their nose. Keep a box of tissues next to the bed. Ask your partner to sleep on their side or stomach. Ask your partner to get help from their healthcare provider.

How to Cope with Challenges

There's too much noise.	 ☐ Use earplugs. ☐ Turn on a fan, white noise machine, or radio tuned to static to drown out the noise. Or use a smart phone app that plays white noise or nature sounds. ☐ Shut the doors and windows. ☐ Ask people to be quiet.
There's too much light.	☐ Get room-darkening blinds or shades.☐ Wear a sleep mask.
I can't get comfortable.	☐ Stretch.☐ If possible, get a bed, mattress, and pillow that you like.
I'm thirsty.	☐ Have a drink at least two hours before bedtime.☐ If you must drink at bedtime, have just a sip.
I keep getting up to use the bathroom.	Avoid caffeine and alcohol.Stop drinking at least two hours before bedtime.

How to Cope with Challenges

Challenge	Ways to Cope	Other Ways to Cope
I feel anxious or alert.	 □ Get up at the same time each day. This helps your body get on a schedule. □ Avoid caffeine. □ If you smoke, quit. □ Avoid naps. Or keep them very short. □ Be active. □ Manage stress. □ Ask your healthcare provider if your medicines are keeping you awake. A couple of hours before bedtime: □ Avoid using a computer, cell phone, or TV. The light can make your brain think it's time to be awake. □ Avoid working or being very active. □ Follow a bedtime routine that helps you wind down. At bedtime: □ Go to bed at the same time each day. This helps your body get on a schedule. □ Don't pressure yourself to fall asleep. Keep clocks and watches out of sight so you don't think about time passing. □ If you don't think you will fall asleep soon, get out of bed. Do something relaxing for a while.

Ways to Unwind

It's a good idea to follow a bedtime routine that helps you wind down. Try to start a couple of hours before bedtime. Here are some ways to unwind.

- Breathe deeply.
- Dim the lights.
- Drink herbal tea or warm milk.
- Get a massage.
- Listen to soothing music.
- Make a list of things to do the next day.
- Read a soothing book.
- Sit outside.
- Stretch.
- Take a warm bath or shower.
- Write in a journal.
